

Prison Progress And Probation

Discussed by Dr. Thayer of Napanoch in Address to The Kingston Hi-Y Club—Little Heard of Those Who Return but Much of Those Who Leave.

The Hi-Y Club of Kingston held one of its best meetings of the year on Wednesday evening, at the Y. M. C. A. About 75 boys sat down to the splendid meal provided by Mrs. George Dullis and her capable assistants. The devotional period of the group was in charge of John Wane who read briefly of the temptation of Christ in the wilderness. As an extra feature for the evening, Ewen Melik was asked to sing for the club and responded in his usual manner. His two solos, "The Two Grandchildren" and "On the Road to Mandalay," were given in Melik's own inimitable style.

President Thompson then introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Thayer of Napanoch, who spoke most interestingly to the members of the club about the penal system of the day. Dr. Thayer spoke briefly of the number in prison today and the cost of their care and then went on to discuss some of the changes that he has seen take place in the past 20 years. Changes from stripes to the present uniform, the lock step to the march today, the vast improvement in the food, the sanitary facilities, the old fixed sentence to the minimum and maximum sentence.

Criminal procedure has three aims: (a) the protection of society, (b) the punishment of the offender, and (c) the punishment as an effect in deterring others from crime. Using these three premises Dr. Thayer spoke most emphatically in favor of the parole system, and stated that over 70 per cent of the men paroled in New York state made good, notwithstanding the assertions of certain writers who are flooding magazines and newspapers with contrary statements.

Dr. Thayer likened the parole system to the oil burner that he had recently installed in his home. No report is being made to the public on the burner that it is functioning perfectly, but let it explode and blow the doctor and his family to Kingston Come and the papers would surely report that the oil burner did not work according to Hoyle. It is the same way with the parole system. Let a paroled prisoner go bad and they write him up, but say nothing of the 70 per cent that are quietly making honest citizens.

Today the law is trying to mete out a punishment that will not only punish for the crime, but that will protect society from the criminal who can not be helped. If a dog bites you, according to old law you should chain him up six weeks as punishment. If he tried to bite you but did not succeed, why chain him up three weeks. A fixed sentence but not a corrective one. For six weeks' chaining up will probably not cure the dog of his biting habit. So today penologists are trying to learn what kind of man they are dealing with, so that they can really protect society against this man.

Dr. Thayer stated that they find exceedingly few high school graduates in the prisons of today, as the majority are men who have quit school at about the fifth or sixth grade. It is in many instances a case of retarded mental growth. These men can not be expected to be developed to a high mental plane, but have to be taught the habits of obedience and industry, particularly the full use of the hands. We seldom live at our full mental plane; sometimes we rise to peaks, but we should try and use our full mental capacity.

Criminals as a rule are those who give up when they meet something hard. Their capacity for living, and meeting life's problems, is too meager for their needs. Their education was not completed.

Dr. Thayer told the boys that they were exceedingly fortunate in the city in which they lived, because of its churches, Y. M. C. A. and schools. He mentioned a trip to Pittsburgh where he was to speak and as he arrived at the place of meeting he learned that two autos had been stolen from in front of the building. The chairman of the meeting in introducing Dr. Thayer called attention to the fact. When he arose to speak, the doctor stated that he felt that he could tell them in part possibly why the cars were stolen. He said that during the day he had walked a little about the city and had noted a large school ground, enclosed, with this sign, "Children forbidden to play here except when school is in session." The carrying the boys and girls of a place for their proper recreation is a fine breeder for criminals.

He feels keenly that the churches, in those cities and villages where there is not a Y. M. C. A. or a community center, are losing their greatest opportunity of service by not being open seven days in the week. The House of God is none too good to save the boys and girls seven days a week.

The doctor closed his address to the boys with the sportsman's prayer: A prayer that while the sportsman will fight his hardest, like his best, he also wants to be able to lose. If he must, with a smile and cheer for the winner. In simple words to be a real man all the time.

Chicago Homes Under Guard

Chicago, Feb. 23 (AP).—Homes of 11 prominent Chicagoans, including those of the mayor, police chief, comptroller, city collector and some city judges—all more or less closely aligned with the administration—were under guard today as fear of the bomb wave spread.

Guards were placed last night about the residences of Superior Judge Emmanuel Eller and his father, Morris Eller, city collector. The Morris Eller house was bombed September 2, 1925.

The police on guard duty have been told to bring in no prisoners. They are to shoot to kill if bombers appear.

In a few instances the police protection has taken the form of patrolling detective squads which drove past the houses under guard. In the case of others, however, including the homes of Mayor Thompson, Police Chief Hughes, State's Attorney Crowe and Judge Eller, officers stand guard constantly.

Homes of Mayor Thompson, City Comptroller Fitzmorris and Dr. W. H. Reid have been under guard since the mysterious bomb warfar broke out with almost simultaneous detonations at the Fitzmorris and Reid homes six weeks ago.

Undertaker and Taxi Man Unite

Thomas J. Wolf of 340 Broadway, who has had fourteen years' experience as an embalmer and a number as funeral director, and Lawrence Scanlon, well-known taxi man of 539 Delaware avenue, have formed a partnership to conduct an undertaking and ambulance service at 340 Broadway, this city. A New York city office will be maintained at 140 East 57th street. The funeral chapel will be of the most modern type and up-to-date equipment has been purchased. A limousine hearse will be used in conducting funerals and for the ambulance service. A Packard car with the latest designed cot, containing pneumatic springs and mattress to make riding over long distances comfortable, will be used. Twenty-four hour service will be rendered throughout the county. Mrs. Wolf, who is a licensed embalmer, will be associated with the business.

ROSENDALE GRANGE HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

Rosendale, Feb. 23.—The regular meeting of Rosendale Grange, No. 1501, was held February 13, at All Saints Parish House, with many members in attendance. Several more membership applications were received for the class in March. Booklets, presented by the Home Economics Committee, were distributed, containing programs of meetings, and other entertainments. Worthy Master C. I. Lefever, Jr., with a large delegation, attended the State Grange Convention at Poughkeepsie, February 7 to 10. Mrs. C. P. Lefever, Jr. was chosen delegate, and read a report of the proceedings, which was most interesting. After business was over with a patriotic Lincoln program, arranged by Worthy Lecturer, Mrs. Arthur Merrihew, was given. Piano and vocal solos by Mrs. C. S. Lefever, reading, Mrs. Henry Mollinbauer, and a fine address by Past Master George Nichols, with singing of patriotic songs by the Grange. The Home Economics Committee served delicious sandwiches, cake and coffee, and a social hour enjoyed. Next meeting Monday evening, February 27.

Brown Murderer Mails Confession

Returns Bonds and Cash Taken From Body of His Victim—Thought He Had Killed Woman, So Tried to Burn the Body.

Bernardsville, N. J., Feb. 23 (AP).—An anonymous letter containing $2,400 in bonds and $500 in cash, today disrupted the theory of police that robbery was the sole motive of the killer who burned Miss Margaret Brown, New York governess, to death Monday night. The letter, addressed to the police here, was mailed at Newark. Miss Brown is believed to have had about $9,000 in money and bonds when she left her employers' home Monday.

The text of the letter was: "I am writing you this letter and sending you the bonds of Miss Brown knowing you will take care of them before anyone else gets them. I am very remorseful. I had been drinking."

"I met Miss Brown in Buffalo and then again in Newark two years ago. I left Newark at 4:15 on Monday and reached New York at 7:15 and met Miss Brown. I had two bottles of wine and we both drank some. I drove out to Lovers Lane, where there was a large car parked. I drove around until the car had gone and then I pulled up there. I hit her on the head and she fell. Thinking I had killed her I took gasoline from my car and poured it over her, lighting it, and then drove away."

"I drove through Bernardsville, where I threw the rest of the stuff in a river as this was all the money she had and I drove around and slept in the car the rest of the night. I drove to Newark the next morning where I am in hiding. I have a good car and new tires and I am signing out. God knows where, to hell I suppose. By the time you get this letter I shall have a good start on you. I am going to go until my money runs out and then when I am caught I have something with me to end it all before they can do anything."

"At Newark," Police said that there was no mark on the woman's head to indicate that she had been struck and they had been working on the theory that robbery was the sole motive for the crime.

The river to which the writer of the letter referred was believed to be the Lindabury Pond which is about 500 yards outside the town of Bernardsville.

The bonds were for $1,000 each, one being a seven per cent sinking fund bond of the Province of Buenos Aires and the other having been issued by the Cities Service Power and Light Company.

Immediately on receipt of the letter, Prosecutor Bergen, of Somerset county, left for New York to ascertain from the Park Avenue Bank whether the bonds were those owned by Miss Brown.

Amplifying the statement that there were "absolutely no marks on the exterior of the woman's body," the coroner stated that there was a blood clot on the inside of the lower jaw.

From a Miss Miller, a nursemaid in the home of E. A. Stillman, on Fifth avenue, police learned that the name of the man whom they suspected was HUI or HOLF.

JERUSALEM SHAKEN BY EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS.

Jerusalem, Feb. 23 (AP).—Two earthquake shocks were felt here yesterday. The first tremor, which occurred at 3 a. m., was slight, but the second shock at 7:59 p. m. was much stronger, although not as severe as the quake of July, 1927.

The tremors were felt throughout Palestine, causing much damage in Jerusalem, Jaffa, Tel-Aviv and other cities. Several walls of the Hebrew University Building at Mount Scopus were cracked. The Allenby Bridge across the river Jordan was damaged. All traffic across the bridge was stopped because of its weakened condition.

No casualties have been reported.

Three Dead in Shelby Hotel Fire

Shelby, N. C., Feb. 23 (AP).—Three persons are dead and three others are in a hospital as a result of a fire which destroyed the Central Hotel here early today. The dead and injured list may mount, as 30 of 45 registered guests have not been accounted for.

The known dead are J. R. Henderson and W. H. Carmichael of Charlotte, N. C., and Henry Kerr, clerk, who died from burns received while awakening guests.

The injured, A. B. Stagg, salesman, Charlotte, both legs broken in jump from third floor window; a man named Epps, Charlotte, injured jumping from upper floor; Miss Emma Frick, hands cut and burned. Spurgeon Hewitt, assistant manager of the hotel, saved the register in which names of 65 guests were entered. Thirty guests have not been located but it was said that this did not necessarily mean they had been killed as it was impossible to make a complete check.

The fire originated in the linen room from an undetermined cause shortly before daybreak. Henry Kerr, the aged clerk, ran from room to room on the upper floors of the building awakening guests. He kept at his task even when flames were leaping along the hallways and finally staggered to the street to be taken to a hospital.

Miss Frick, who had an apartment in the hotel sought to fight the fire with an extinguisher placed in a hallway. Her hands were badly cut when she broke a window to get to the extinguisher and she was slightly burned.

The hotel occupies the upper floors of the block. Business establishments were located in the other parts of the building.

FARM AND HOME BUREAU MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK

Farm and Home Bureau winter meetings have been scheduled for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Professors Jennie Jones and W. T. Crandall will be the speakers. The meeting on Monday will be at the Church Hall, Hurley, beginning at 10:30 a. m. on Tuesday at the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall, Modena, at 10:30 a. m., and Wednesday at the Ketchikan Church Hall, Ketchikan, at the same hour. On each occasion a hot dinner will be served by the Home Bureau members. All interested are cordially invited to attend.

Police said that there was no mark on the woman's head to indicate that she had been struck and they had been working on the theory that robbery was the sole motive for the crime.

Huling Makes A Record Run

Drives From Florida, 1,592 Miles, at Average Speed of 30.6 Miles an Hour, Using 104 Gallons of Gasoline.

Mark A. Huling, driving a Nash Advance six car, recently completed a trip here from Sarasota, Florida, making the 1,592 miles in the running time of 50.6 miles an hour and this time carried him over some of the best roads in the country as well as some of the worst. On the trip he consumed 104 gallons of gasoline and four quarts of oil. The water used on the trip he places at one pint. Averaging 15.2 miles per gallon of gasoline, the cost of gasoline used on the trip was $20.21 and the oil cost was $1.20.

Road markings in the state of Florida he reports as very good but through Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania the road markings are not good, particularly for night driving. On account of poor road signs in those states he lost a total of four hours.

Roads for the trip he found very good all the way except for a few detours in Georgia, North and South Carolina.

Introduces Bill For New Armory

Senator Wicks Introduces Measure At Albany Providing for Appropriation of $200,000 for New Building Here—Also $200,000 For New Paltz Normal.

Senator Arthur H. Wicks has introduced a bill in the senate at Albany providing for an appropriation of $200,000 for the construction of a new state armory to replace the present structure. The new armory is to be located "in or near Kingston." The bill provides that the armory must be erected on a lot at least 300 feet deep and 200 feet wide, and provides for the disposition of the present armory on Broadway.

Senator Wicks also introduced a bill appropriating $30,000 for the construction of an addition to the New Paltz Normal School.

Both bills were referred to the finance committee of the senate.

"GRANDMA'S DREAM" FEATURE AT ACCORD.

Legion Welcomes 179 New Citizens

Addresses by Judge Staley, Harry H. Flemming, Commander Heiselman and Two New Citizens, Messrs. Bergham and Stamatakos.

The second reception to new citizens of the United States given by the city of Kingston under the auspices of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, was held in the high school auditorium Wednesday, Washington's Birthday. Since the last reception was given two years ago 179 foreign born residents of the county have become citizens of the United States and it was in honor of these men and women that the reception was given. During the program of the evening Judge Ellis J. Staley of Albany delivered one of the finest talks on citizenship which has ever been given in the city and to the entire address the newly made citizens gave their full attention.

Not only did native born residents have a part on the program but those born on other shores participated. After a welcome by Corporation Counsel Harry H. Flemming, a foreign born citizen, replied. Later on during the program a young man who has made Kingston his home by adoption, spoke and in his speech was reflected the interest and the enthusiasm which comes to the foreign born man or woman who not from chance but from choice becomes a resident and citizen of this country. Coming to the United States from Syria five years ago Chahin Karls Bergham entered night school in this city. At that time he could not speak a word of English. Since then he has learned not only to speak but to read and write the language. His address was proof of his interest in the country of his adoption and showed what all foreign born residents might do to become better citizens.

At 7:30 o'clock the men and women in whose honor the reception was given assembled at the American Legion house adjoining the high school and at 8 o'clock, headed by the Legion drum corps, marched to the high school, where reserved seats had been allotted them.

Following a number by the high school orchestra under the direction of Leonard H. Stine there was the advancement of the colors by members of American Legion Troop No. 10, Boy Scouts. The color guard was Townsend Rittenbury, Warren Nehr, Paul Haas and Kenneth Stratton. The oath of allegiance to the flag was given by Frank Clarke. Following this ceremony the Rev. George L. Wilkey, chaplain of Kingston Post, American Legion, gave the invocation and the audience sang "America."

Commander Heiselman Presides. C. J. Heiselman, commander of Kingston Post, who presided during the meeting, extended a welcome on behalf of the Post to the new citizens and their friends. Briefly he explained what the American Legion was and what it stood for. Among the things which the Legion stands for is good citizenship. Since the last reception and between February 1, 1925 and February 1, 1928, 179 foreign born residents have been admitted to citizenship in the county. He gave a list of the communities where these men and women reside and showed that although the majority of them were from the city of Kingston still they were scattered in small numbers all over the county. Today too few people take an active interest in government and only about 50 per cent take interest enough in their government to vote. The Legion has as one of its aims the thought of getting more voters to take an active interest in the conduct of the country's business. Strange as it may seem, the greatest neglect comes from native born citizens. The foreign born residents who have become citizens turn out nearly 100 per cent to vote. He urged the new citizens to become good citizens and take an active interest in the government of their home by adoption.

Mr. Flemming Speaks. Mr. Flemming extended a word of welcome to the new citizens and congratulated the Legion on its efforts to bring together such a fine meeting as it had. To his mind there could be no more important a meeting. Good citizenship upholds the respect of the country and continues to carry on that which our ancestors commenced. Involved upon the new citizens was a new and greater responsibility and he expressed his hope that they would all realize it and do their utmost to accept and accept this great responsibility. Native born citizens come by their citizenship by birth but the foreign born resident by choice and they should feel a greater responsibility thereby. It is perhaps this thought which governs the problem of why but 50 per cent of the native born exercise the right to vote while nearly 100 per cent of the foreign born residents vote. They apparently do realize the importance of their step in adopting the United States as their country.

INDIAN OF 118 PRE-CHICAGOAN

Nah-Nee-Num-Skuk Born on Lake Shore When It Was Wilderness.

Mayers, born in 1890 in an Indian village where Chicago now stands, is one hundred and eighty-eight years old. He lives now at his home, but has been back to the scene of the Windy City since it was merely an oasis in the wilderness along the shore of Lake Michigan.

Nah-Nee-Num-Skuk was not a youth of twelve or so when his tribe, the Pottawatomies, set forth from the lake shore to found a new home for itself further on in the unexplored West. He is unable to comprehend descriptions of the great changes that have occurred in the locality of his birth since his leaving-taking more than a century ago. He would like to go back once again to see the scene of his birth before the Great Father calls him to the Happy Hunting Ground.

Nah-Nee-Num-Skuk, despite all the tales he has heard, believes he could still pick out the site of his birthplace. In his vision he can see plainly the small tepal on the shores of the great lake, where he first came into consciousness. He can see the little clearing, the tall trees, the rippling stream that flowed into the lake and he believes that it still must exist as it was when occurred the onrush of the whites, which caused his tribe to move on westward.

Tribe Went West. His tribe, the Pottawatomies, did not like too close an association with the newcomers in their land, so they folded their tents, left their ancestral shore and departed for the vast hunting grounds that remained further on toward the setting sun. Nah-Nee-Num-Skuk remembers the arrival of the first whites, with their long guns and queer ways. He remembers councils that the chiefs of the tribe had with them.

The Pottawatomies were friendly toward the invaders. They did not seek to slay "palefaces." Nah-Nee-Num-Skuk was not a fighter. He was known as a peaceful Indian. However, some members of his tribe with more ferocious tendencies met on a few scalp-hunting expeditions. The Pottawatomies had unavoidable wars with other tribes when they left their camp at Lake Michigan for hunting grounds not their own. But Nah-Nee-Num-Skuk took no larger part than was necessary.

He never has learned to speak English. At a recent visit to him it was necessary to converse with him through his wife, who is his sixth legitimate. Nah-Nee-Num-Skuk no longer lives in a teepee, but in a four-room frame house on the Indian reservation, 11 miles west of the town of Mayetta, where he has been allotted a tract of land. Relatives of his wife plow his land, plant the crops and harvest the grain.

But the ancient Indian tends the chickens and the cows. Every morning he spends about two hours chopping wood. He cuts it cleanly, places it in a neat pile, then rests till afternoon. The remainder of his work consists of odd chores. His present spouse is more than a generation younger than he. She is eighty.

Outlived His Children. Each of his first five wives died of old age. His many children—so many that he is not sure what the count is—died of old age, too. If now living, the youngest would be an old, old man. The number of his grandchildren runs into scores. His appearance is testimony that he has seen a great number of summers and winters come and go. He has an almost indescribable look of oldness, yet he gets around much better than some persons half a century younger. A few weeks ago he journeyed to the Indian pow-wow at Lawrence, where he witnessed his first football game. It was the contest between the Haskell Braves and Loyola of New Orleans.

He was pleased when told that Haskell was the victor. But he failed to understand any of the rudiments of the game. "It sure was nice," was how his sixth wife translated his comment. She added that the Indians never had a game quite so rough, even in the days of their reputed savagery.

When asked if he would attempt to play the game if he were a young man today, Nah-Nee-Num-Skuk answered that he probably would.

He makes frequent trips to the office of the Indian agent at Mayetta. He always is quiet and reserved when there, generally seeking some favor or his monthly allotment. He wears his snow-white hair long, parted in the middle, and he clings to many of the customs of his ancestors. Moccasins protect his feet. But, except on occasions of ceremony, he wears an ordinary hickory shirt and trousers of the white man's type.

He has lived on the Pottawatomie reservation near Mayetta for more than 20 years. Before that he was on a reservation in northern Kansas. More than half his life has been spent on reservations. But the first 50 years of his existence were spent in the wild, free life of the aboriginals. He has participated in many buffalo hunts, many forays to gain provisions, and has witnessed a war upon the west coast only by the sound of bullets. Skeptical of the Charges. Nah-Nee-Num-Skuk has been told that tall Indians were captured heights on the site of his birthplace; that over his magnificent avenges run thousands of cars; that millions of people inhabit the shores he knew, and that long wharves line the lake, and that the little stream he knew is obliterated. Yet it seems to him that the clearing of his youth must remain as when he trudged out early last century behind the poles and lances of the tribe. Were he to go and see the city, he would say, "No, there has been a mistake. This is not where I was born." Only the lake would look the same, but the big ships would distort the view of his memory.

One thing saddens the heart of Nah-Nee-Num-Skuk. There is no longer anyone who is familiar with the days of his youth, or who can talk over with him the things that he remembers. The last tribal member who recalled the days when the Pottawatomies were camped on the shores of Lake Michigan died more than 40 years ago. Since that time the old Indian has had to brood alone with his thoughts of the past. There have been some who remembered experiences of 70 or 80 years ago, and who could talk with him concerning later events, but there has been no one who had any remembrance of the trials and experiences of far earlier days.

His parents have been dead for nearly a century. But he recalls clearly the mother on whose back he used to be carried while she went about her work in the Indian village. When not occupied with his daily tasks, Nah-Nee-Num-Skuk sits in the sun on the porch of his home, thinking over matters that passed by long before the memories of most old men of today even had a beginning.

The Indian agent verified the fact that the age of "the old Indian" really is one hundred and eighty-eight, and that he was born in 1840, the year in which Abraham Lincoln first saw the light of day.

Palates Ticked by Sweet Dumplings

San Francisco—Chinese sweet dumplings are to the oriental palate what the onion is to the American youngster or apple pie to the Yankee. On some feast days the dumplings take precedence over the favored roast duck as the show de resistance, and on almost all holidays it is enfolded between meals when not the chief article on the table menu.

The ingredients are a pound of rice flour (no soy flour), a pound of Chinese brown sugar squares (brown sugar) and a piece of dried ginger (ginger) the size of a walnut. To make the dumplings enough water is added to the flour to knead it into the thickness of biscuit batter. It is then separated into balls the size of small biscuits. A third of the brown sugar squares are dried, the four balls are flattened out, sugar is put in the center and the ball is rolled until the sugar is inside. Two quarts of water are then boiled with the ginger that has been washed and sliced into wafers. When the water boils the residue of sugar is set in the dumplings, which are rolled and placed on a platter. The dumplings are done when they float. The recipe will serve four persons.

Crooked Roads

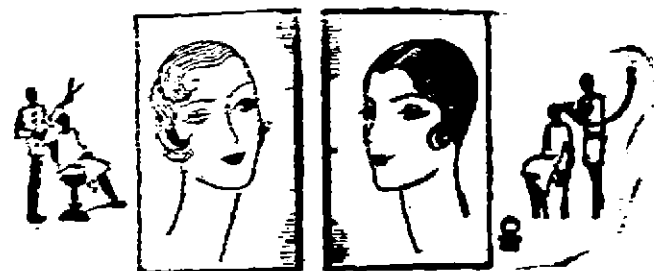

The most difficult railway line to operate in the United States is the 75-mile stretch of the Clinch railroad, which twists and turns through the mountainous country between Mack, Colo., and Watson, Utah.

Blindness Spread by Flies

The prevalence of blindness in Egypt is probably traceable to the fact that the fly is sacred in that country. It is said that a mother will not kill a fly nor even brush it from the eyelid of her child. Infection is often carried from one child to another, and in the case of diseased eyes the malady is spread in a few days.

Prehistoric Mound

Newmarket, W. Va., once the scene to Grave Creek mound, 70 feet high and 800 feet in circumference, the largest prehistoric monument of its kind in America. Many objects of interest, including a stone bearing inscriptions which have never been deciphered, were found in partial explorations of the mound's interior.

William T. Tilden 2nd to protect his throat, smokes Luckies

"The voice is essential to stage work and its care one of the actor's greatest worries. During the course of some of my stage appearances, I am called upon at intervals to smoke a cigarette and naturally I have to be careful about my choice. I smoke Lucky Strikes and have yet to feel the slightest effect upon my throat. I understand that toasting frees this cigarette from any throat irritants. They're 100% with me." William T. KINGSTON, N. Y., FEB. 23, 1923.

In these times of ever increasing prices and living costs it is amazing to read that the water rates of New York City are the same today as they were in 1887, and that for the first time in seventy years it is proposed to raise them 10 per cent as one means of meeting municipal expenses.

Transatlantic television appears to be a promising prospect even if not yet an actual achievement. The images sent by John L. Baird, the young Scotch inventor, from his laboratory in London and received in Hartsdale, near New York City, are said to have been so imperfect as to be scarcely recognizable, but that anything at all was accomplished is marvelous.

The joy of the Democrats on hearing that the National Republican Committee got a share of the Teapot Dome corruption fund has been considerably modified by the report that the managers of the said fund threw a sop to the National Democratic Committee also. Though this may be rather embarrassing to the Democratic leaders of the Senate's investigating committee, they know that there can be no slowing up of the process of probing to the bottom, whatever the consequences.

UPHOLD THE NAVY.

Prior to the World War, the late William Jennings Bryan voiced a popular fallacy by asserting that should need arise, "A million citizens would spring to arms over night."

The need arose and the million defenders of democracy in due time appeared but they found that something more than mere willingness was needed even for land forces. As a result American troops used European guns and accoutrements abroad and many were the tales of lack of equipment and preparedness relayed to the folks at home.

We are now suffering from propaganda against an adequate navy, doubtless set afoot by well meaning people who would outlaw war. Even the dullest wit should realize that it is utterly impossible to conjure ships of the line into being over night, or to find immediately in times of stress the specialized personnel needed for their command.

An adequate naval force is not a step toward war but insurance against this scourge, meriting support of every patriotic citizen.

A POOR REMEDY.

Under the British Films Act, finally extorted by the British movie-makers, exhibitors are obliged to show 5 per cent of British-made films per annum, increasing to 20 per cent by 1925. Such a scheme can hardly produce the results desired. It will not force the public of Great Britain to witness less attractive British films or prevent crowding to see more interesting and more technically perfect American films. The British public, like any other public, is more interested in getting the best possible entertainment for the money than in fostering home industries.

The British people do not favor American films alone. They have developed a new and eager interest in American plays and American books as well. There was a time when it was amusingly asked in England, "Who reads an American book?" That time has gone forever. It appears that American "best sellers" are now "snapped up" within a few weeks by the English, because, as one English observer has explained, they "appeal to the heart and imagination of us all." Legislation can never intervene effectively in matters of this sort, as the hard-pushed and complaining British film-makers will find.

FILM COMPETITION.

France as well as England has enacted law designed to protect home film producers against American competition. Under the new British Films Act, finally secured by the hard-pressed British movie producers, exhibitors are obliged to show 5 per cent of British-made films per annum, increasing to 20 per cent by 1925. The French plan of restricting the importations of American films promises to be more effective, temporarily at least. The English law will not force the public of Great Britain to witness British films or prevent crowding to see more interesting and more technically perfect American films. The French law, on the other hand, will force the exhibitors to show a certain number of French films, and could be amended so as to shut them out altogether, or, until a damaging precedent is set, in every country the public is more interested in seeing the best possible entertainment for the money than in fostering home industries.

One inevitable difficulty both in England and France is that the American films are superior and therefore more popular, and that legislation can not be effective in a matter of public taste. Another difficulty is that the foreign film makers lack the money necessary to compete with Hollywood's lavish expenditures in order to secure great results. Still another difficulty is that they are in need of foreign distribution, involving amiable reciprocity arrangements, while American producers are not dependent on foreign distribution. Because there are 25,000 movie houses in this country alone, all eager for new releases and ready to pay the price, in the language of the street, the foreign producers appear to be up against it.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

HELP FROM OUTWARD SYMPTOMS.

You perhaps find yourself unduly hot, and as you are not in a warm room, nor have you been doing any work or taking any exercise, you are at a loss to account for it.

You take your temperature and sure enough you find that it is up one or two degrees.

A little later you find yourself in a perspiration not only about the face and head, but about the whole body.

Perhaps before you felt the heat or the perspiration, you had a momentary chill down your back or throughout your body.

What do these signs mean?

Simply that Nature is putting up a fight for you against some invader. The invader may be some poisonous products from food eaten, or it may be some real serious foe like influenza or pneumonia.

And so your chill, your fever, and your perspiration, are evidences of Nature's efforts on your behalf.

Another lesson that Nature tries to bring home to you is when a boil, or a crop of boils appear on the surface of the body. That is Nature's method of telling you that some article or articles of diet are not being utilized and thrown out of the body properly. Naturally the outward conditions need attention, but what about trying to learn just what is causing the condition?

Similarly with other eruptions or skin ailments such as eczema. This is also just another way Nature has of notifying you that insofar as your particular cells are concerned, that some special article or articles of diet are giving them trouble as they try to do their work.

And so when you see the word disease, a word that most health writers try to avoid, you should remember its definition.

"Disease is merely the expression of the efforts on the part of your body to cure itself, and defend itself against poisons, by means of fever, sweating, vomiting, eruptions, and so forth."

I believe, therefore, that if you and I were to remember this definition, and remember that every one of these symptoms is really a sign of Nature's effort on our behalf, we would get busy with ourselves when any of these symptoms arise, and give Nature the help she deserves.

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.
Feb. 23, 1908.—The Davis block, corner of Main and Partition streets, Saugerties, destroyed by fire with loss of $30,000.

Feb. 25, 1918.—Death here of Mrs. John D. Mowell, in her ninety-second year.

Charles Dasher died at his home on North street, aged 60 years.

A mysterious break in the low pressure water main could not be located by water department, and householders supplied from that line experienced a lack of water.

Automobiles and sleighs were still crossing the river between this city and Rhinecliff.

The Lesson

If youth, with all its progressive-ness and buoyancy, could only learn one great lesson that comes with advancing years, so much disillusionment and unhappiness would be prevented. If youth could only learn, while it is still youth, that there are certain fundamental things which it cannot do and "get away with," certain things that must be done and must not be done, certain things that are not only conventional but essential, half the tears of boyhood and girlhood would never flow.—Grove Patterson, in the Mobile Register.

Crack Shot

A man brought home three turkeys from a shooting match. His neighbor and four-year-old were congratulating him on his success. The father told his neighbor he was a crack shot. The turkeys were being discussed at dinner and the four-year-old informed the family that "he shot 'em with firecrackers and never burnt 'em one they bit."

WE'VE SOLD THE CAR

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WE'VE sold the car. A good old friend. The good old car is at an end. Some other hand will have the fun. And try to make The old car run.

Were traded in. The good old car. For that's the way That people are. Old age had come. And youth had gone. And so we passed The old car on.

It seems naked. It seems unfair. But that's the way That friendships wear. No more can say We did not praise It even in Its saddest days.

Yes, if you think We did not claim We loved the old Car still the same. And swear it was As good as new. Then ask the man We sold it to.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

BACK TO METHUSELAH

BERNARD SHAW, the Irish dramatist and paradoxical philosopher, in his book "Getting Back to Methuselah," puts forward the theory that human beings could live a thousand years, or even three thousand years, if they had a mind to.

He points out that nobody has ever explained why a parrot should live ten times as long as a dog, while a turtle is almost immortal.

On the other hand, he contends that even the cleverest and most experienced of men are mere children when they die.

So he comes to the conclusion that among the matters apparently changeable at will is the duration of the individual life.

He calls the great Welsmann as a witness.

That biologist pointed out that death was not an eternal condition of life, but an expedient introduced to provide for continual renewal of the race without overcrowding.

Men, according to Mr. Shaw, don't live long enough for the simple reason that they have made up their minds to decay and die at a certain time.

But if a race has the power to make a mistake, it also has the power to remedy it.

So that if man now fixes the term of his existence, say at three score years and ten, there is no reason why he should not fix it at three hundred or three thousand. He might even go further and place a "circumstantial selection limit."

That is to say he would go on living until some fatal accident would put an end to him.

The Shaw theory, whether it is to be taken seriously or not, is in curious contradiction to that put forward by Sir William Osler, the celebrated Canadian physician, some years ago.

He held, in spite of all the evidence to the contrary, that a man never did any really original work after forty, and should be put in a lethal chamber at sixty.

This did not prevent Osler from resigning his chair at Johns Hopkins in 1904, when he was fifty-five, and accepting the Regius Professorship of Medicine at Oxford.

The success which he achieved in that place ought to have caused him a great deal of worry because it destroyed his own theory of human utility.

NEW American Edition of STUDEBAKER'S
ERSKINE SIX
$795 f. o. b. factory—

40 miles per hour—when NEW 62-mile speed later!

DUE to advanced engineering, precision workmanship and fine quality materials, the new American Edition of the Erskine Six may be driven at 40-mile speed the day it is delivered to you!—62-miles-an-hour later on.

This means far more to you as an Erskine owner than simply eliminating the tedious driving of a new car at 20-miles-an-hour for the first 500 to 1,000 miles. It means that Erskine engines are carefully seasoned on the dynamometer—that every part is subjected to the most rigid inspections—that your Erskine has been assembled with fine-car precision. Such cars heretofore have been found only in the luxury-price class!

Proof of these qualities of construction is found in the performance of the new American Edition of the Erskine Six at the Atlantic City Speedway. Here a stock Erskine sedan traveled better than 54 miles per hour for 24 consecutive hours, establishing itself as champion of its price class. No stock car priced under $1,000 has ever equaled this record.

Try out this new American Edition of the Erskine Six for yourself—today! A bigger, roomier car—doors nearly a yard wide—rear seats 4 feet wide—shock absorbers. A more powerful car—brilliant 6-cylinder performance with thrifty gas and oil consumption—quick-on-the-trigger acceleration—masterful on hills and highway—amplified-action 4-wheel brakes. A sensational, low-priced, fine-car value worthy of the 76-year-old Studebaker tradition.

Every Boy Needs a Dog

Every boy should grow up with a dog, for the association thereby will make of the boy a fairer, kinder, truer man, some day, when he becomes a man. He will learn to love fairness, justice and mercy, just as he will come to hate meanness, cruelty and cowardice, through daily contact with his big-eyed, shaggy-coated, understanding friend. If the boy is unkindly, vicious, intemperate, or destructive, he will find in his voiceless associate a wordless rebuke for the sins of his commission. It is the inevitable way of a dog with a boy, and the dog knows, moreover, because through him the infinite forces of the universe are functioning as freely as the wind through winter trees.—David Arnold Balch in the New Age Illustrated.

SIX EUROPEAN NATIONS

London, Feb. 23 (AP).—The American tourist who expects to do his sight-seeing in Europe from his own motor car had better begin practicing ambidexterity. And even then he may spend most of his time abroad in trying to find out whether to drive on the right or left hand side of the street.

If the American visitor goes to Portugal he must drive on the left hand side. But if he crosses the border into Spain and drives on the left hand side he will get into trouble. Over the line in France he must drive, as in Spain, on the right hand side if he wants the French gendarmes to wave him on without protest.

Some of the Continental countries have been debating whether a uniform regulation cannot be made to apply to all countries, making them right or left. Austria, after centuries of use of the left hand side for traffic, has decided to follow the example of the United States and adopt the right hand side. Thus far, however, only one district is using the right hand.

Countries which follow the example of England—left hand—rather than that of the United States, are Sweden, Czechoslovakia, Portugal, Hungary and part of Austria. The other countries drive on the right hand side.

Motor cars in states where right hand driving is the thing have the steering wheel on the left hand side and where left hand driving is ordered on the right side.

Motorists have complained of the left-hand system in England, but the Royal Automobile Club says there is no prospect of legislation to change the custom of centuries.

Major Segrave of England, who holds the world's automobile speed record, declares that driving on the left hand side of the road when the motor car has the steering wheel on the right side is inefficient because the driver always has the width of the car between himself and the curb. "The consequence is," Segrave says, "that he leaves himself a broad margin and therefore drives toward the middle of the road."

London newspapers agree that although the London policemen are the best traffic controllers in the world, traffic is much slower in London than in Paris.

NEED MORE ATTENTION TO MARKETING OF EGGS.

"The dealers at terminal markets grade eggs more closely than poultrymen grade their eggs which are to be used for hatching," said Professor H. E. Botsford, of the New York state college of agriculture, speaking at Farm and Home Week at Ithaca, N. Y., on an egg marketing program for New York state. "This is because the dealers are more alive to the fact that proper grading is a question of dollars and cents with them."

"During the past few years great emphasis has been put on the production side of the poultry business, and very little has been said about the problems of marketing. Quantity and not quality has been the aim. The farmer does not get the price for eggs that he thinks he ought, because the dealers grade more carefully than the farmer does."

"The main aim of an egg-marketing program for New York state should be to cut down the losses incurred by producers through inefficient grading and packing," the speaker declared.

Referring to a specific example of carelessness in grading and packing eggs shipped to the terminal markets, Professor Botsford said out of 76 cases, 46 cases were damaged. A total of 708 eggs from these cases were smashed, 663 were cracked and 135 were stained. In other words an average of 33 eggs were lost in each case. "Most of this damage could have been prevented by use of better methods of packing. New fillers should be used, for the money saved by using old ones is not enough to pay for the loss," Professor Botsford said.

Locomotive Boilers

The Canadian Pacific G-2-D class Pacific type locomotives were constructed in 1926 and are the first locomotives built having nickel steel boiler plates. This permitted an increase of 25 per cent in boiler pressure with no increase in weight of the boiler barrel.

Origin of Man

There are scores of beliefs regarding man's origin. The queerest is that of the ancient Peruvians, who believed that the sun came down, laid two eggs, and from those the first human beings came.

Introduced Cauliflower

An Englishman traveling in Egypt about the end of the Sixteenth century noticed a vegetable which was common enough to the Egyptians but which he was unacquainted. It was the cauliflower. With some difficulty he procured some seeds, which he intended to try to grow in England. They were lost in transit, however, and so the cauliflower was not introduced there until a century later when it was brought over from Germany.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ennist. There were 16 guests in attendance and the afternoon was spent in playing five hundred. Friday afternoon Mrs. Ennist and Mrs. Clark were hostesses at another luncheon. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. DuBois and Mrs. O. Agnew of Newburgh.

Mrs. J. De River of Poughkeepsie was in Marlborough Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Goudy, Jr., spent Wednesday in New York City.

I. H. V. Dickinson spent the week end at Pompton Lakes, N. J., where he was the guest of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Casney spent the week end in Jersey City with their daughter, Mrs. Thomas Geerin.

Earl Benjamin of Brooklyn is spending the winter at his home here.

Evelyn Clark of New York City spent the week end at her home here.

Miss Sherman spent the week end as the guest of her friend, Mrs. William Mitchell, in Smithtown Branch, L. I.

Mrs. A. S. Ferguson is visiting relatives in Schenectady, where she will remain until the first of March.

Miss Agnes Casey of New York City spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Casey.

Mrs. George Canzoneri and family spent the past week in New York City.

Miss Mary Newell of Highland spent the week end at her home here.

Miss Pearl Edwards of Poughkeepsie spent the week at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. C. A. Dunn.

The C. D. of A. of Marlborough are planning another dance to be given in St. Mary's Hall, March 17. The two Marlborough troops of Boy Scouts will hold a joint meeting at the gymnasium in the M. E. Church on Friday night. The boys heard a talk by Howard Smith of Kingston, Ulster County Boy Scout Executive, who brought an interesting and instructive message on the Scout organization.

Onion Tells Cobbler
All About '28 Weather

Marshfield, Wis. — Ewald Bensch, local cobbler, who forecasts the weather a year in advance by consulting the layers of a raw onion, has announced his "findings" for 1928. The predictions are made by cutting up an onion and carefully studying each layer. This must be done, Mr. Bensch says, between 11:30 p. m. on December 31 and 12:30 a. m. on January 1.

The forecast for this year shows: January, much snow and cold; February, cold, but not much snow; March, wet and thawing weather; April, medium wet and not so cold; May, very wet; June, much rain and warm; July, mostly dry and very warm; August, wet and warm; September, mostly dry and warm; October, medium wet and slightly cooler; November, wet, much snow; December, partly wet, snow and cold.

One of the hardest things to find is a man who is satisfied with the wording of the judgment that has been returned against him.

Nobody cares how fast the younger generation acquires wisdom. Just so long as it doesn't break the combination with a crowbar.

Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York has been elected to the Blackfoot tribe and must be careful hereafter not to be seen in tan oxfords.

When the average man hears caution about jay-walking and dangerous driving, he immediately thinks how many other fellows need the lesson.

Income Tax
in a Nutshell

Tips for Taxpayers.
No. 10.

To the taxpayer whose gross or net income for 1927 was $5,000 or less, and was derived chiefly from salary or wages, the problem of correctly making out an income-tax return is not difficult. Such returns are made on Form 1040A, a single sheet. Persons, any part of whose net income, regardless of amount, was derived from a business or profession, including farming, are required to use the larger form 1040.

The gross income of the usual business consists of the gross profits on sales, plus any income from investments and incidental or outside operations or sources. The return must show the gross sales, purchases, and cost of goods sold. To reflect net income correctly, inventories are necessary at the beginning and end of each taxable year.

The lawyer, doctor, architect, author, clergyman, dentist, or other professional man must include in gross income all fees, salaries, and compensation for professional services.

The farmer is required to report as gross income all profits derived from the sale or exchange of farm products and livestock, whether produced on the farm or purchased and resold. The fair market value of merchandise or groceries, received from the sale of farm products which were raised, must be included; also profits from renting a farm on the crop-sharing basis and the rental and sale of farm lands.

SPRING CLEANING FOR LIBERTY

Gallons upon gallons of water—beads of soap by the ton! Just a couple of items in the plans now being considered by the War Department in response to a suggestion that Liberty Statue be cleaned. As the lady's nose is 9 feet long, her finger nails 13 by 10 inches and her height 111 feet, 6 inches, her "bath" will probably be the most colossal ever attempted.

"I never can remember," observed Simmons, "whether to say 'It is I' or 'It is me'."

"I can give you a good rule on that," returned his friend. "Just say over to yourself this rhyme: 'It is I, said the spider to the fly', and there you are."

A few days later the friend met Simmons and asked whether the rule had been of help.

"It would have but for one thing," replied Simmons. "I couldn't remember whether your rhyme was: 'It is I, said the spider to the fly', or 'It is me, said the spider to the flea'."

Are You Sure Their Food Is Safe?

When your laughing, merry children come bounding in from play, hungry for something good to eat, isn't your first thought for their health and well being? Food must be absolutely fresh and pure to build up strong systems and give proper nourishment to the active bodies of growing children.

Many women think that refrigeration is not necessary in winter. The menace of ill-health lurks in foods that are not properly refrigerated. For there are fine shades in food spoilage not readily apparent but nevertheless dangerous.

The electric refrigeration of Frigidaire assures a constant, cold, dry atmosphere for the preservation of food. The temperature is not too cold to freeze, not too warm to allow spoilage—the natural flavors and health giving qualities are preserved for a long period.

WHY MORE DIVORCES ARE GRANTED IN CANADA.

Montreal, Feb. 23 (A).—The increase in the number of divorces granted annually in Canada is due to changes in community life and family disorganization, Professor C. A. Dawson of McGill University declared here in a recent lecture.

He defined divorce as the legal recognition by the state of family dissolution. He also urged that divorce figures be accepted with the utmost caution for some countries are more ready to recognize family disintegration than others so that divorce figures but partially represent actual conditions.

According to Professor Dawson there were 3,700 divorces granted in the British Isles during 1927, an increase of six times the annual average for the period from 1906 to 1910. In 1913, he said, there were but 36 cases before the Senate of Canada but in 1926 the number had risen to 668. But he pointed out, these figures are not complete for in 1926 approximately 1500 couples, married in Canada, crossed the border and were granted divorces in the United States. He therefore set the total divorce figure for Canada in 1926 at a little over 2,000.

"Regarding desertion, the poor man's divorce," said Professor Dawson, "we have no accurate statistics. But the indications are that there are vastly more instances of desertion than of legal separation, and in most cases the family dissolution is as great in the one case as in the other."

Professor Dawson then explained some of the forces that are affecting the older forms of family stability. They are rapid growth of cities, great changes in transportation and communication, a number of new and specialized occupational opportunities, and the consequent shifting of population to and within the country.

Under rural conditions, he said, the family was the economic unit, and the members of the family lived and worked within sight of their home. There was little or no occupational opportunity for women. Family unity based on tradition and sentiment was very great and it was interesting, he said, to note that in the most rural province of Canada, Prince Edward Island, there has been but one divorce in the past 50 years. In contrast, in highly urbanized communities, there were forces making for social change and readjustment and the family was not the economic unit in production as it was on the farm.

That there are some counter forces also, was brought out by Professor Dawson. He said that as the most pressing problems of family life centered in the cities a more intelligent understanding of these problems developed there, and the emotional life of the individual and adult was more clearly understood than it was a decade ago. Furthermore, church and lay religious organizations, which took a sympathetic attitude towards the ideas of a new era could do much to establish a more wholesome and lasting family solidarity.

Trade in Moleskins

Once considered chiefly as a pest, the mole is now regarded as an important article of commerce, since the demand for its fur involves a business of more than $2,000,000 in this country annually, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The most desirable varieties come from abroad, but more than $100,000 worth of raw American mole skins have been marketed for fur. While the animal works considerable injury to crops, it is sometimes of benefit in destroying harmful insects.

When You Catch Cold Rub On Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and works right away. It may prevent a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster.

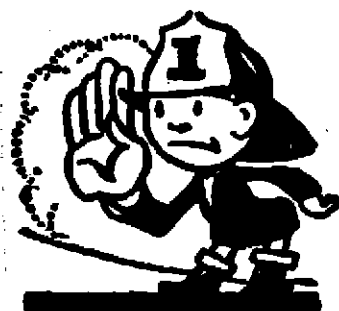

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frozen feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Annual Dinner of First Dutch Men

An Excellent Banquet Followed by Floquet and Inspiring Addresses by the Rev. Dr. Giles and the One and Only Joe Mitchell Chapple.

The sixth annual patriotic banquet under the auspices of the Men's Club of the First Reformed Church, was held Wednesday evening. Promptly at the hour set the men to the number of 210 who had gathered in the auditorium of the church filled into the spacious lecture room, where tables, row upon row, garnished and beautifully decorated, awaited them.
Above the speakers' table and at the other end of the room opposite the head table, were life-size portraits of Washington draped with American flags. An artistically arranged national color scheme greeted one everywhere. At attention stood the forty members of the Henrietta Wynkoop Guild, ready to wait upon the assembly of representative men of Kingston.

A verse of "America," the invocation by Dr. Boeke, and all sat down to a dinner that for taste and quality as well as amplexness would be difficult to excel. The service was perfect. The menu was as follows:
Fruit cocktail, soup and saltines, salad, roast turkey, dressing and gravy, mashed potatoes, green beans, boiled onions, cranberry sauce, celery and olives, rolls and coffee, pie a-la-mode.

Paul Zucca with his violin and Bit-tner at the piano supplied the dinner music and, between the many courses in his own inimitable way led the mass singing.

Harry S. Ensign, President of the Club, presided with dignity and grace. After welcoming all to this fitting celebration, the 19th anniversary of Washington's birthday, and proposing a rising vote of thank-to the ladies, he turned the gavel over to Dr. Myron J. Michael who had been drafted into the office of toastmaster.

Dr. Michael, in a felicitous way, and in a tone of voice and in a spirit so characteristic of the man, made everyone feel happy.
He read a telegram received from Sis Harry Armstrong, British Consul General, one of the speakers last year, which read as follows:

"Rev. Lucas Boeke, 52 Main street, Kingston, N. Y. Very pleasant recollections of my being with you upon George Washington's birthday last year prompts me to send you and your parishioners my best wishes for the celebration tomorrow. My kindest thoughts and regards to all present."

Harry S. Armstrong
A letter from Judge Clearwater was also read.

"Dear Dominie:
—Alas! Yielding to marital and medical pressure and intimidation, much to my sorrow I am compelled to decline the kind invitation of the Men's Club to preside at the banquet at the patriotic dinner on the 22nd.
You will recall that Tactis said the Latavians were the bravest and most resourceful of the Teutonic races. That echoes apply to their descendants who founded and who still largely maintain the old First Dutch.

With many kind regards and best wishes for the success of the dinner and for the health of all of you. I am as ever,
"Very sincerely yours,
"A. T. CLEARWATER."

W. Warren Giles, D. D., pastor for twenty years of the First Reformed Church of East Orange, N. J., was the first speaker. He received a great ovation. It was his third appearance on the occasion of the First Dutch men's dinner. The feeling among the diners, after listening for an hour to Dr. Giles with his keen wit, his delicious humor, his dramatic appeal, his solemn warnings, was that Giles, despite his white hair and wrinkled brow and his three score years and ten is growing better and better as an after dinner speaker.

Dr. Giles' subject was "I am an Optimist with Certain Misgivings."
His optimism consisted in a due appreciation of the greatness and the idealism of America. We are a highly favored people. Our resources are boundless. From a nation of a handful of people we have in less than a century and a half grown to one hundred and seventeen millions of people. Think of the homes, the comforts, the wages, the advantages, civil, educational and religious.
Think of the wealth of nearly four billion dollars! Of course there are discrepancies and incongruities and, at times a gross lack of appreciation of real values. Why, for instance, should a movie star be compensated from five to ten dollars a minute, a movie czar leave a presidential cabinet for a salary of $150,000 per year, or a young boxer pull down a million dollars in thirty-nine minutes and a man like William Howard Taft, chief justice of the Supreme court, in forty-six years of service to his country receive in all these years a sum total of less than three quarters of a million?

Dr. Giles pleaded for higher education as an essential to trained and capable leadership. He pleaded for cultural as well as for practical and vocational training. He gave a dissertation upon the constitution that was most impressive. It sounded like the voice from a judge upon the bench; like a valedictorian pleading for loyalty to God and country. The response of his listeners was wonderful.

Joe Mitchell Chapple, author, Chautauqua lecturer, orator, ambassador plenipotentiary, editor of the National Magazine, was then introduced. Chapple, erudite, versatile, Chapple, the silver-tongued, flowery orator got under way without preliminaries and delivered an address that ranks among the finest in modern forensic skill. "Forward," was his challenging word to the group of cosmopolitans. It is not a time for looking back with gloomy eyes.
George Washington was a forward-looking man, general, statesman.
Theodore Roosevelt was the epitome of aggressive, forward-looking Americanism.

"Friendliness" was another word that to the speaker characterized the American spirit of today. Fresh from the Pan-American congress, the speaker gave his hearers a buoyant and optimistic resume of what had been accomplished to foster the spirit of friendliness. He paid a glowing tribute to former Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes, to Ellis Root, the late Warren G.
Harding, each in his turn having labored to foster the spirit of sincere friendliness.

Mr. Chapple related interesting experiences in his travels which seem well-nigh to have covered most of the world. In a vivid way he related his meeting the King of Belgians and accompanying him to Washington, and how the latter had received his inspiration from his careful study of the character and ideals of Washington. What a meaning the word "America" conveyed to the peoples of old Europe that were struggling for self-government. How this blessed, favored land became the asylum of the down-trodden and oppressed. Then to come down from the deeds and accomplishments of the great men of our country to the slim, tall, blue-eyed youth who flew down like a lone eagle from the sky to the Mitchell Field, saying "My name is 'Lindbergh' I am going to Paris," and having undertaken that stupendous adventure, and successfully completing it, within a year has become the most-loved youth in the world. Wherever "Lindy" goes hale and malice, and suspicion, and racial antagonism take flight. Why?
Because "Lindy" is the creator of the friendly spirit, the ambassador of good will, the embodiment of everything that is ideal and noble in American youth. Think of the poise, the strength of character, the genuinely manly spirit revealed in this noble youth.

Joe Chapple's address was delivered with a vigor as only a strong, vigorous man could deliver it. The masterly address struck a note of responsiveness that was most effective. The applause was spontaneous and sustained. To see that body of men then rise to their feet and sing "America" was a thrilling climax to a great banquet.

The cigars enjoyed by the men present were donated by the New-combe Oil Company, through its vice-president, L. H. Doty.

Mob Psychology

"Mob psychology" refers to the mental processes of a mob. Persons will often do things collectively, especially in a large and disorderly gathering, which they would not do individually. Mob psychology is the unthinking infection of a crowd by an idea uttered by a leader. "Mob psychology" is used in a closely related sense.—Psychology Magazine.

CREEK LOCKS.

Creek Locks, Feb. 23.—The International Bible Students held a very interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. and Sister Sagar on Thursday evening. All were very glad to see William Sagar again as it was his first appearance in quite a while. He has been very ill.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. David Goldwasser of Lawrenceville, who is making her home with Mrs. Rose Blumberg for an indefinite time. Both are doing fine. Dr. L. Krump of Bloomington is the attending physician.

Mr. and Mrs. David Mowle are entertaining his brother, Lon, who has a position on a boat.

Mrs. Luther Krum of West Paterson, N. J., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Krum, has been spending the past week with her parents. Mrs. Krum, who is ill, is being attended by Mrs. George Kri.

Miss Emma J. Westwood, a former resident of Saugerties, who died in Middletown on February 20, was taken to Saugerties on Tuesday and funeral services were held Wednesday with interment in Mountain View cemetery. She was a cousin of the late C. C. James.

Rebecca Phoebe Annesley, a former resident of Kingston, mother of Phoebe Annesley, wife of the late Capt. Robert Tompkins, of this city, died at her home, 3124 Broadway, New York, Monday, February 20. Funeral services were held at St. Mary's Church, 521 West 125th street, Wednesday, at 4:30 p. m. Interment was at Albany, N. Y.

Mrs. Joseph L. Abrahams died suddenly this afternoon at her home, No. 46 Chambers street. She had been a resident of this city for a number of years and was held in high esteem. Besides her husband, she is survived by six children: Daniel of New York city; Morris of Saratoga Springs; Isaac of Kingston; Ezra of New York city; Mrs. Sarah Marks of Glens Falls and Mrs. Mary Cooper of Greenwich, N. Y.

Miss Mary Hyland, for many years a well known resident of Stony Hollow, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Brophy, 215 St. James Place, Brooklyn, Tuesday, after a brief illness. She is also survived by another sister, Miss Kathryn Hyland of Brooklyn, and one brother, William Hyland, of Henry street, this city. Funeral from the Church of the Nativity, Brooklyn, Friday at 9 a. m. Interment in St. Mary's Cemetery on the arrival of the 2:15 West Shore train Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Anthony Warion, for many years a well known and highly respected resident of the lower section of this city, died Wednesday evening at her home, 124 Newkirk avenue, after a long illness. By her genial manner and her readiness to assist those in need, she made many friends, who will learn with sorrow of her demise. Besides her husband, she is survived by one daughter, Mary R. Warion and one son, Edward A. Warion. Funeral from her late home Monday at 9 a. m., thence to The Church of the Immaculate Conception where at 9:30 a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul. Interment in the family plot, Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Sarah Halstead, wife of the late David Halstead, died Wednesday afternoon following a short illness, aged 94 years. She was born and lived nearly her entire life at Sayvillon and came to this city five years ago to make her home with her son-in-law, George Sinsabaugh, on Locust avenue, and where she had endeared herself to a large circle of friends. Despite her advanced age, she always took an active interest in everything. She leaves one son, Elsworth, father, of Flatbush; two grandchildren, eleven great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren. The funeral will be held from Mr. Sinsabaugh's home on Locust avenue Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock and 2:30 at the Sayvillon M. E. Church. Interment in the family plot in the Sayvillon Cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Ella J. McGiffert was held at the chapel of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street, Wednesday, February 22, at 3:30 p. m. Owing to the absence of her pastor, the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seelye, who is in the south, the service was conducted by the Rev. W. F. Stowe, pastor of the Church of the Comforter. In the course of his remarks, he spoke of her devotion to the bereaved and also read a beautiful poem entitled "Others." Chaucer's "S. Main sang 'Saved by Grace'." The presence of many friends and an abundance of beautiful flowers attested to the high esteem in which Mrs. McGiffert was held. The interment was in Whitwick cemetery.

Mrs. McGiffert was the wife of the late Rev. William Henry McGiffert. She is survived by a daughter, Sheila, wife of Henry B. Darrow of this city and a son, Crosby J. McGiffert of Upper Montclair, N. J. For years she had been a faithful member of the Fair Street Church, showing a deep interest in all its activities. She was president of the Woman's Missionary Society and superintendent of the Home Department of the Sunday school. The thought of the poem "Others" read at her funeral expressed the passion of her life, for she was happy in the fact that she could live and do for "Others." She will be greatly missed by her many friends.

In Memoriam.

In sad and loving memory of Laura Wright Hornbeck who passed away one year ago today, February 23, 1927.

Gone but not forgotten.

Signed:

KATHERINE JANSEN.

In Memoriam.

Laura Hornbeck died February 23, 1927.

Dearest mother you have left us just a year ago today. We were too young to understand just how long you were to stay. But we know you are happy in that beautiful land on high.

Signed:

KENNETH AND BETTY HORNBECK.

Son and daughter.

Memorial.

In loving remembrance of my husband, Gilbert Drake, died February 24, 1922.

I miss thee from our home, dear Gilbert.

I miss thee from thy place; A shadow o'er my life is cast. I miss the sunshine of thy face. I miss thy kind and willing hand. Thy fond and earnest care. My home is dark without thee. I miss thee everywhere.

(Signed) WIFE.

In Memoriam.

In loving memory of the late Isaac Decker who died February 24, 1909.

We are sad within our memory. Lonely are our hearts today. For the one we loved so dearly. Has been called away. We think of him in silence. No eyes may see us weep. But many silent tears are shed. When others are asleep.

(Signed) His Daughter.

MRS. JOHN BURMEISTER.

Legion Welcomes 179 New Citizens

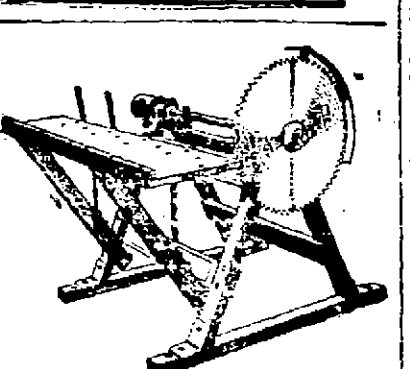

Most solemn in its nature, is now complete, and its purpose is to give to the new citizens a better understanding of the American way of life, and a greater appreciation of the rights and responsibilities of citizenship. The ceremony was held at the Kingston Post Office, and was attended by a large number of guests. The new citizens were sworn in by Judge Staley, and were then presented to the American Legion. The Legion members then gave a short program of songs and recitations. The ceremony was a most successful one, and the new citizens were welcomed to the Legion with a warm and friendly spirit.

Judge Staley, in his address, welcomed the new citizens to the American Legion, and spoke of the importance of citizenship. He said that the American Legion was a place where new citizens could find a home, and where they could learn the American way of life. He then presented the new citizens to the Legion members, and they were all sworn in. The ceremony was a most successful one, and the new citizens were welcomed to the Legion with a warm and friendly spirit.

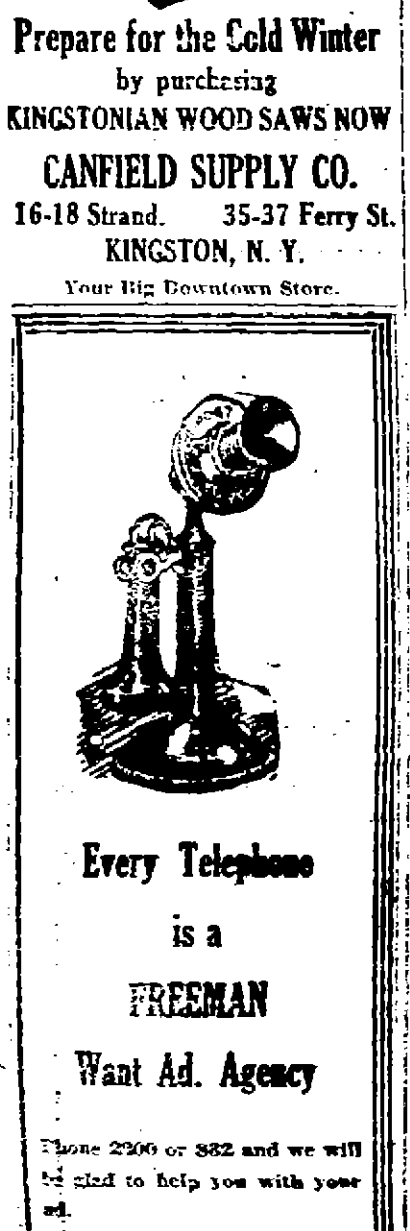

There are two important events in every human life. One is the birth, and the other is the death. Between these two events, there is a long and busy life. The American Legion is a place where new citizens can find a home, and where they can learn the American way of life. The Legion members are all men who have served their country, and they are proud to welcome new citizens to the Legion.

The world is a great stage, and all the people in it are players. The rewards for the activities of life come in the form of quality and quantity of work. A person is qualified to play his part only when he has a deep understanding of the lines and requirements of life's obligations. You have come to this country with a new spirit, and you are going to be a part of the American way of life. The American Legion is a place where you can find a home, and where you can learn the American way of life.

Perhaps the first obligation you have as a citizen is to devote yourself to the preparation for mental and physical health. The American Legion is a place where you can find a home, and where you can learn the American way of life. The Legion members are all men who have served their country, and they are proud to welcome new citizens to the Legion.

It is well to remember that the American Legion is a place where you can find a home, and where you can learn the American way of life. The Legion members are all men who have served their country, and they are proud to welcome new citizens to the Legion.

The power to rule by vote does not mean the right to overthrow, but rather that it is based upon the recognition of the necessity to maintain that which has proved to be good or bad. The American Legion is a place where you can find a home, and where you can learn the American way of life.

There is no place here for the agitator who devotes his time to convincing people that they are abused and deprived of their rights and who does this generally for his own profit and advancement. He is a menace to progress, to humanity and to a free government, because agitation is not progress, nor is it beneficial exercise. Government is something to live under and not something to live on.

No one is required to live under this government if he can find a better one, and if you are not content with America as you find it and accept it, it will be better for you and for America if you find contentment elsewhere.

No doubt you have experienced the joy and marvel of the latest scientific invention which transmits at great distances through the free air in perfect volume and tone the speech of the human voice and the minute variations and harmonies of music by radio. Through its use there is disclosed a heretofore unknown power and energy for the transmission of sound through the air.

There is no difference between the air in Europe and the air in America, except that here it is filled with a spirit that is purely American. A spirit of energy and power similar to that which makes radio transmission possible, a spirit of progress, a spirit of enterprise, a spirit of unity, a spirit that impels every man in his time to become a part of the structure of human justice, human right and human achievement for the good of mankind. If you are to become worthy citizens you must tune in with that spirit and accept the task of performing your duties as a citizen on the basis of how much you can give rather than how much you can get.

The American guarantee of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness does not mean that this country owes you a living. Our country is a land of opportunity, not in the sense of being elevated in life by some power of government, but rather a land of opportunity in the sense of individual freedom to make the most of the years God has given you by the effort and toil and sacrifice you are willing to make to elevate yourselves. It means that here the opportunity is yours to have happy homes and to live in peace and security; it means the fullest freedom to lead lives of usefulness, to prosper as you are willing and able to work for prosperity and to worship God according to the dictates of your own conscience. It means more education for your boy and girl than you had yourself; it means greater progress and success for your children than was afforded to you, and it means the opportunity to reap the reward of your industry and the achievement of your ambition. The American Legion is a place where you can find a home, and where you can learn the American way of life.

The American Legion is a place where you can find a home, and where you can learn the American way of life. The Legion members are all men who have served their country, and they are proud to welcome new citizens to the Legion.

Be thrifty. Such advice will, I know, not be necessary for the Scotch. Acquire the saving habit and guard your savings with great care. In order to acquire wealth you must possess first the capacity to make money, second the habit to save money, and third, the ability to properly invest it and secure it. Some people can make it and not save it, other people can make and save it and then lose it. The successful person is the one who can make it, save it and keep it.

Beware of the man who seeks to sell you a gold brick, who is always sure that the investment that he is seeking you to make is good and that you will get a big return. Remember that the smaller the return the safer the investment. If you have money to invest go to some of the good bankers in the city and get their advice. They surely have better knowledge and information regarding investments than you can get from one who comes to your door peddling stocks and bonds.

Here is given to every man the right to rise:
To take a part in making equal laws,
To hold his neighbor equal to himself,
To speak the truth and to resent a lie,
To serve no man as master, but to toil,
To earn the right to call himself a man.

America accepts you as one human being.

Dog Catchers Caught Five

The official dog catchers of the city captured five unlicensed dogs which were running the streets on Wednesday. The dogs were placed in the pound at Forsyth Park.

The health officer, state sanitary inspector of this district, was in Kingston on Wednesday, conferring with the health officer here. He will have found plenty of unlicensed dogs running around loose.

THE JOINERS

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

Women of Mooseheart Legion will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the new rooms, 26 Cedar street.

Union Chapter, No. 445, O. E. S., will hold its regular meeting at 8 o'clock, Wednesday, at the new rooms, 26 Cedar street. A class of candidates will be initiated. Following the business session, a social hour will be enjoyed and refreshments served. All State and Master Masons are invited.

Special Program of Music. At the recital to be given in the First Reformed Church next Sunday, at the close of the evening service, Dr. Fredenburgh will play the Voluntary Overture to "Lohengrin" by Wagner. This will be followed by a number of lighter but charming and popular numbers, "To the Rising Sun" by Torjussen and Mendelssohn's "Spring Song". The other organ number will be "Finlandia" by Jean Sibelius, the great Norwegian composer. This composition is one of the best known of his orchestral compositions. During the recital Mrs. Doty will sing "God's Love" by Ward Stephens.

PORT EWE

Port Ewen, Feb. 23.—P. J. Kane of Kingston called on friends in this place Tuesday.

A business meeting of the Epworth League will be held this evening in the Methodist Church House. After the business session a social hour will be spent. The Misses Mary and Elizabeth Tinnie will be the hostesses for the evening.

Mrs. F. B. Sleight lost her wrist watch between Salem street and her home on Broadway.

A cafeteria supper will be held Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock in the Methodist Church House. A very appetizing menu has been prepared: Chicken, home made biscuit, mashed potatoes, cabbage salad, baked beans, succotash, fruit salad, wheat bread, whole wheat bread, jelly, apple pie, cherry pie, pumpkin pie and cream pie, home made ice cream, coffee and tea. Supper served promptly at 5:30. All are invited to attend.

Brasch Coniglio has a large assortment of fish, oysters and clams at his Broadway market.

Martin Van Keuren has several pieces of furniture for sale at his home on Hamilton street.

A meeting of the congregation of the Methodist Church was held Tuesday evening in the church house to elect three trustees for the term of three years. Robert Torrens, Sr., Abram H. Schryver, William Stephenson were elected. T. S. Denniston was elected delegate to lay electoral conference and Charles Beaver, alternate.

The Port Ewen Reformed Church will resume the mid-week services at 7:30 o'clock tonight. "Our Lord's Eternal Forgiveness" will be the topic. At 8:30 the choir will meet in the church auditorium.

About the Folks

Mrs. Edward E. Witzel is confined to her home on Harwich street by illness.

Margaret Church of Russell street has returned to her home after a several days' visit in Syracuse.

Mrs. Judson L. Styles, Jr. was removed from her home at 10 Sterling street to the City of Kingston Hospital Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James V. Connelly and family of Detroit, Mich., are visiting in Kingston. Mr. Connelly is a former member of the Kingston police department and was called here by the illness of his mother at her home on West Chestnut street.

E. E. Raffaldi, proprietor of Torino's Inn, West Harwich, arrived on the French liner Paris from Europe, Wednesday, February 22. Mrs. Raffaldi being at the pier to meet him. Before returning home they will visit friends in Hartford, Conn., and Birmingham, Mass.

George H. Bartlett, Jr., of Hillsdale, Mich., has accepted a position with Walter S. Darling, builders' supplies, Washington avenue. Mr. Bartlett is well known in this city, having resided here several years ago. While here he will make his home with Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Voorhees, 46 Green street.

Isaac Conner of Rochester Center, who has been for 8 weeks at the Benedictine Hospital, was taken Sunday to the home of his niece, Mrs. Charles H. Phillips, No. 709 Broadway, in his nephew's, Coroner N. W. Conner's, car which was greatly appreciated by Mr. Conner's friends, as Mr. Conner's condition is still quite serious owing to a complication of diseases. Dr. Bush is the attending physician. His sister, Mrs. Leonard Burger, and husband from Napanoch, spent Wednesday with Mr. Conner at Mrs. Phillips home.

CAPTAIN OLSON'S MILITARY TALK PLEASED Y'S MEN

The Y's Men were keenly interested in what Captain Olson had to say concerning the military preparedness of the west bank of the Hudson river when he spoke at the weekly dinner of the club in the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening. Captain Olson has charge of instructing the officers of the local unit, 156th Field Artillery, National Guard. The twenty-two members present enjoyed the sing and meal. The men expressed the opinion that if the weekly dinners continue to offer the quantity of delicious food "Pop" Hinds, physical director of the "Y's" will have to furnish more strenuous exercise than that afforded by the volley ball games held after the weekly dinners.

Rosedale Democrats Met. Much business was transacted at the regular meeting of the Democratic Club of Rosedale at the meeting held in the rooms on February 19. The vice presidents, Walter Fuller, P. O'Reilly and J. L. Sullivan, were appointed on the entertainment committee and promise that they will furnish real pleasant times for the club members. It was planned to hold an old-fashioned dance in the club rooms on Saturday evening, February 25. Members may invite their friends. At the next meeting of the club, which will be on March 9, Judge John J. Duffy, as announced by President Mollenhaer, will speak on a subject of interest to every member.

Supper and Entertainment. Atwood, Feb. 23.—The supper and entertainment which was postponed last week on account of deaths in the community will be held Saturday evening, February 25, in the school house at 6:30 p. m. A good entertainment, consisting of solos, duets, readings and male quartet numbers will be given after the supper. Everyone is invited to enjoy the evening.

Church Service at Krumville. Krumville, Feb. 23.—At the service in the Reformed Church next Sunday at 11 o'clock the Rev. Thomas S. Braithwaite will officiate and will have for his subject, "Having a Plan and Purpose in Life." All the young people are invited.

Y. M. H. A. Meeting Tonight. A regular meeting of the Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Association will be held at the Hebrew School Hall this evening at 8:30 o'clock. Very important matters will be discussed and it is requested that all members be present.

New York Harbor Fogbound. New York, Feb. 23 (AP)—Thousands of ferry passengers were delayed and five incoming liners were held at Quarantine today by a fog over the harbor. Small craft kept close inshore.

To Hold Cake Sale. The M. W. F. W. Sunday school class of the Church of the Comforter will hold a cake sale Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Rose & Gorman's store.

Society Notes

Carter-Every.

John J. Carter of 40 Jarrold street and Miss Delta Every of 15 West Union street were united in marriage on February 20 by the Rev. John P. Neumann of St. Peter's Church. They were attended by Francis E. Carter and Mary A. Terpening.

A regular meeting of the Delta Alpha Society will be held at the home of Nettie Osterhout, 12 Clinton avenue, Friday evening, February 24. A report of the committee in regard to the banquet which will be given in honor of the 50th anniversary of the society, will be discussed at this meeting. All members are requested to answer roll call.

Atharhacton Club.

Mrs. Boyd was the hostess of The Atharhacton Club on Wednesday afternoon and also had the paper for the day. Mrs. Boyd ably presented John Drinkwater's "Mr. Charles, King of England". In the report of last week's meeting it should have stated that Mrs. Terwilliger gave a fine review of Carl Sandburg's "Abraham Lincoln". Next Wednesday the Atharhacton Club will meet with Mrs. King.

Party at The Vly.

A party was given at The Vly Friday evening, February 17, at the home of Miss Ethel Krom in honor of Miss Edith Patterson's twenty-first birthday. Games and dancing were greatly enjoyed by all. A bounteous repast was served at midnight. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Krom, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Davis, the Misses Leah Shurter, Daisy Myers, Florence Palen, LaVergne Palen, Gladys Van Demark.

Beatrice Tronbridge, Ethel Morris, Alberta Bender, Dorothy Barringer, Hazel Davis, Edith Patterson, Albert Krom and Ethel Krom, the Misses Henry L. Christians, Helene Barringer, Russell Calen, Elwood Morris, Harold Tronbridge, Theodore Ackert, Harold Winchell, Howard Tronbridge, Albert Myers, Roy Christians, Albert Christians, Stanley Davis, Clayton Christians, Raymond Davis, Carlton Krom. The guests all departed in the wee hours of the morning after a most enjoyable and pleasant social gathering.

Comforter Church Service.

The mid-week prayer service of the church of the Comforter will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The Women's Missionary Society will meet in the church hall Friday at 7:30 p. m. A special service will be conducted to celebrate the Day of Prayer for Missions. All welcome.

G. and E. Girls Entertain.

The Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. had their usual good time at the Wednesday night supper this week and the supper was followed by a very enjoyable and clever entertainment. Ten girls from the Gas and Electric Company put on a splendid program of songs and feature recitations and were enthusiastically applauded. Next Wednesday night the girls from the Wonderful Company Store will have charge of the program.

Capping the Great Pyramid of Value to the Greatest Reception in Hudson History

The Custom Victoria

Hudson's long, constantly improved leadership of chassis values, riding qualities, performance supremacy, and operation smoothness, is this year rounded out with the most beautiful modern and varied line of body designs we have ever presented—and to the greatest public applause in all Hudson's long score of triumphs.

From pre-showings in hundreds of cities including Detroit, from the brilliant New York Automobile Show, from the trade, the press and the man on the street come the most significant and powerful endorsements that Hudson has ever won.

Its leadership of mode extends to every detail and marks a new Hudson supremacy, as definite as its mechanical dominance through the Super-Six principle, and its companion invention which set today's standard for motor performance.

There are seven body styles on Hudson—three on the 118-inch chassis and four on the 127-inch.

Until you have examined and ridden in the new Hudson Super-Six you cannot know the most outstanding advancement in motordom.

Buyers can pay for cars out of income at lowest available charge for interest, handling and insurance.

Naval Findings in S-4 Case

The court of inquiry into the sinking of the S-4 finds that the commanders of the two vessels were equally to blame, and that Rear Admiral Frank H. Brumby should be relieved of his command for inefficiency in rescue operations. Admiral Brumby, left, and Lt. Commander J. E. Bayliss, right, captain of the Paulding, are shown above.

CYPRUS ENDS 50 YEARS UNDER BRITISH CONTROL

Nicosia, Cyprus, Feb. 23 (P)—Cyprus, the Mediterranean's most romantic island, once a love-gift to Cleopatra, is celebrating this year the golden jubilee of its entrance into British protection. Special observances are being held throughout the island to commemorate the secret treaty of 1878 between England and Turkey by which Britain acquired control of the island.

The English governors point out that since British occupation the population has been steadily increasing, after four centuries of Turkish rule during which the population declined. Judges were corrupt and police inefficient. The population is now 310,000. Eight hundred new schools have been founded, forest land has been replanted, and cigarette-making has been started as a flourishing industry. British administrators have eliminated almost completely the locust plagues.

Cyprus lies between Athens and Jerusalem, Cairo and Constantinople. It boasts a civilization at least 2,500 years old. It is the island where, according to mythology, Aphrodite, goddess born from sea-foam, had her altar. Solon gave the island his famous laws, and Xerxes used the island's forces against Greece, as Alexander the Great did against Tyre. Anthony gave Cyprus to Cleopatra as a love-token. Persians, Egyptians, Romans, Greeks and Turks have ruled it.

St. Paul included Cyprus in one of his missionary journeys. Richard the Lion-Hearted first conquered the island for a western power in 1192, but gave it to the King of Jerusalem. For three hundred years Cyprus was ruled by the successors of the King of Jerusalem, and its constitution, laws and literature became the admiration of Europe.

Cyprus became a possession of England in consequence of a treaty by which England promised to assist Turkey if Russia invaded Asia Minor. In 1914 Cyprus was annexed to the empire.

College Hero in New Role at Broadway.

Lionel "Mike" Ames, who is selected to be one of the featured artists of the Broadway for 1928 season today is declared to be one of the most artistic and realistic impersonators of female characters on the modern stage. During the course of his college career at the University of Michigan, Lionel "Mike" Ames bore the nickname of "Iron Mike." He was a leader in college athletics and theatricals and it was due to the fact of his making such a "pretty girl" in the latter that he finally became a female impersonator. "Mike" Ames gives all credit to "Shorin," his diminutive wife for the marvelous feminine impersonations he uses in his act. It is she who designed and made them and who assists him in dressing in them.—Advertisement.

RINGS FOR MEN TO WEAR

Men do not wear as many rings as women, but the ones they should wear must represent good value and excellent taste. Preferably your ring should be a diamond solitaire, artistically set. Because this type of ring is so popular we have designed and made a variety from which you can make a pleasing selection. Precious stones are safe investments.
